

New Web Presence for TMMi

If you haven't visited our website in a few months, you may have missed the fact that the TMMi Foundation has a completely new website: www.tmmi.org. Check it out and let us know if you have any feedback. We strive for continuous improvement, and are developing an update to our membership system and database, where our members will have the possibility to maintain their own personal data. A huge thank you to our developer Wilfred Helmig of yourconcept.nl.

TMMi DevOps paper is released!

Our paper "How TMMi supports the Three Ways of DevOPS" is released and can be found on our new website under Resources -> Papers & Case Studies. A special thanks to Matthias Rasking and Jan Jaap Cannegieter, who both put a huge effort in producing this paper.

Recently a new case study was published under the title Achieving TMMi Level 3 – A Chinese Case Study. This paper was written by Erik van Veenendaal, Chaobo Shang and Yihuai Xu and published in issue no. 8 of Quality Matters, March 2019. You can download the paper via www.quality-matters.org
